Natural soap from Morocco made traditionally of black olives and olive oil, known around the world for its skin care properties. It has the appearance of a dark paste which, when mixed with water becomes a creamy velvet mass. Savon Noir foams very gently, and thanks to its moisturising and exfoliating properties very effectively softens and nourishes the skin, leaving it silky smooth to the touch.

It has been traditionally and unchangeably made of a mix of olive oil and laurel oil for 2000 years in the city of Aleppo, Syria. The ritual of the soap making starts with the end of the harvest season in the olive groves. The resultant olive oil is boiled for a few days in special vats with an addition of soda received as an sea salt extract. In the end of slow boiling, the substance is enriched with laurel oil. After filtration and cooling, the soap – still green is hand cut, marked and left in fresh air to get dried for at least 9 months. The characteristic beige colour is a result of oxidation of the soap surface exposed to the fresh air and is a final indicator of the quality.

The Aleppo Soap is fully natural. It does not contain any fragrant compositions, dyes, preservatives and any ingredients of animal origin.

Versions of product:
- Aleppo with 5%-8% of laurel oil
- Aleppo with 12%-15% of laurel oil

The cosmetic can be used by vegetarians and vegans. All the products of Organique have been dermatologically tested. None of the products of Organique has been tested on animals.
